

PREDICTIONS

GUARANTEED 100% ACCURATE

2006 Ska is once again revived when late-1990s kitsch becomes trendy. The Mighty Mighty Bosstones eat for the first time in 20 years.

2007 Fearing their domination of the cute-twin video market slipping, Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen will have themselves permanently fused together at the base of the head. Their first release, Siamese Slumber Party, will be a straight-to-video success.

2020 Men with long hair past their shoulders will continue to look like girls, regardless of how hard they scowl.

2012 After saving the planet from middle-aged white millionaires, newly-crowned King of the Earth and Moon Clinton of Arkansas decrees that Former Presidents George Bush Jr. and Sr. be held in the Royal Prison. Their cells will be proportioned in such a way as to prohibit both sitting and standing. They will spend the rest of their natural lives crouching, naked, being doused occasionally with ice water.

3198 Long after the robots have assumed control of our planet, a rag-tag bunch of misfits—descendants of today's Texas A&M clan—will lead a final battle against the vicious Robot Lord. The battle will end with a decisive robot victory, dooming mankind forever and putting to rest the hope that, someday, A&M won't hopelessly bumfleck everything it does. (Ahem, Tier 1.)

2087 Every human being in China will jump off a chair at the exact same time, sending the Earth out of its orbit and hurtling towards the Sun.

8571 After millenia of doubt, Jesus will, at long last, finally descend from heaven and extend the glory of God to all those who have Him in their hearts. Nonbelievers will be cast into a sea of flame and excrement in which they will stink and burn until the end of eternity. Floating high above the sinners, the Chosen People will ride on golden stallions, dressed in the finest threads, singing praises to His name. Or not.

FUN FACT!
The month of March was named after Major Ben March, who fought bravely against the bastard Krauts in WWII!

SCIENCE MARCHES ON! THE SOLUTION TO THE ENERGY CRISIS!

Rice burner powered by rice!

Turbo-charged bike gets an astonishing 45 miles to the gram!

White, wild, steamed or fried—it doesn't matter! This miracle bike has been hailed by scientists, environmentalists, and rice moguls alike as the most significant breakthrough in transportation technology since the Velcro shoe!

The Ricemaster 6000 sets a new record for power, weighing in at a brain-liquifying 5,680 horses. Better wear earplugs, though, because this puppy delivers decibels at levels audible 12 miles away!

Simply fill the bowl with a scoop or two of freshly-prepared rice, and take off on a hell ride sure to loosen your bowels and shake the teeth from your skull!

- Todd Nienkerk

Illustration:
Todd Nienkerk

